FOREWORD

Indian Summer is that brief period of late fall when the sun shines warmly, the sky is bright, and the atmosphere is hazy. The Class of 1962 thinks of its senior year as the Indian Summer of its life in Honaker High School. While basking in the sunshine and warmth of these last happy days, we gaze through the haze into a cold and somewhat uncertain future where we will be separated from one another. May we in the years ahead recapture the happy memories of classmates, teachers, and school activities through the pages of THE TORCH.

DEDICATION

In memory of four students, Sharon, Susan, Jack, and Diane Cline, who lost their lives in a fire on October 19, 1961, we respectfully dedicate this volume of THE TORCH. Death Be Not Proud!

A. P. BALDWIN, Principal, and DARLENE HARMON, Office Secretary.
